

Dr. Diane Duncan is a board-certified plastic surgeon practicing in Fort Collins, Colorado.

While performing traditional plastic surgery is her primary focus, she is also interested in research and development of new solutions for skin tightening and regeneration.

Dr. Duncan is on the editorial board for ASJ and reviews for many peer reviewed journals.

She is a coordinator for IMCAS Academy, and is a member of ASPS, ASAPPS, ASLMS, ISAPS, and ISDS. She enjoys global education and learning from her colleagues.

The recent development of biologicals for aesthetic uses is her latest area of interest.
