

BIO STATEMENT

George Kroumpouzou, MD, PhD, FAAD, Director of GK Dermatology, is Clinical Associate Professor of Dermatology at Brown University and Professor of Dermatology, Collaborator, at Jundiaí Medical School, São Paulo, Brazil. He has served as Instructor of Dermatology at Harvard Medical School. He is certified by both American and European Boards of Dermatology. Dr. Kroumpouzou is a Board Member of the International Academy of Cosmetic Dermatology. His expertise is in the fields of aesthetic dermatology, laser surgery, gynecologic dermatology, and disorders of pigmentation. Dr. Kroumpouzou is an editorial board member in 7 peer-reviewed dermatologic journals, and Associate Editor of International Journal of Women's Dermatology. He has published more than 100 peer-reviewed articles and 27 book chapters. He is the Editor of 2 monographs and 3 books including the definitive Text Atlas of Obstetric Dermatology. Dr. Kroumpouzou is passionate about teaching, and has delivered lectures as invited speaker and chaired expert panels at numerous national and international medical conferences. He is the recipient of several scholarships and awards, including awards by the International Union Against Cancer, New England Dermatologic Society, and the Dean's Excellence in Teaching Award at Alpert Medical School of Brown University.