

Melissa Kanchanapoomi Levin, MD FAAD, is a board-certified dermatologist with award-winning experience in medical, cosmetic, and surgical dermatology, and is the founder of Entière Dermatology. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree with summa cum laude and Phi Beta Kappa from the University of California of Los Angeles and earned her medical degree (MD) from the University of California of San Francisco, graduating as a member of Alpha Omega Alpha honor society and completing the prestigious Doris Duke Charitable Foundation International Clinical Research Fellowship. Dr. Levin trained at New York University (NYU) Langone Health, where she won awards for her research in laser surgery and received the Morris Leider Award as “the best all-around resident” for Excellence in Dermatology. Dr. Levin previously served as the Director of Clinical Research at Marmur Medical and as Assistant Clinical Professor of Dermatology at Mount Sinai Hospital.

Dr. Levin remains active in academia and clinical research. She currently serves as a Clinical Instructor of Dermatology at NYU Langone and on the advisory board of leading dermatological brands. She is an invited lecturer for both national and international conferences and serves as a reviewer for numerous medical journals. She is frequently sought out as an expert to editors for major medical outlets like the New York Times, Allure, Vogue, Cosmopolitan, Marie Claire, Elle, Women’s Health, Glamour, InStyle, and etc. Dr. Levin serves as a consultant dermatologist for multiple consumer beauty and skin care brands. She is an active member of the American Academy of Dermatology, American Society of Dermatologic Society, and American Society for Laser Medicine and Surgery.

Global dermatology is a passion for Dr. Levin. She serves on the Skin Cancer Advisory Committee for Standing Voice, an international non-governmental organization based in Tanzania.