

Fotini Bageorgou

(Greece)

Fotini Bageorgou is a Dermatologist & Venereologist from Athens Greece.

She is a member of the European Academy of Dermatology, the European Academy of Allergy and Clinical Immunology, and different societies including the International Peeling Society, the International Society of Dermatologic Surgery, the Hellenic Society of Dermatology and Venereology, the European Society of Aesthetic Gynecology, the European Society for Cosmetic & Aesthetic Dermatology, and the Hellenic Dermatosurgery Society.

After graduating from medical school she pursued her Dermatology & Venereology Residency at Andreas Sygros Hospital of Dermal & Venereal disease in Athens. She also pursued a fellowship at Colorado University USA, Anschutz University Hospital, in skin cancer. She has also received Advanced Anatomy training at Paris Descartes University Medical School, France.

She is an Academic Fellow at the Oral Pathology Department, Andreas Sygros Hospital University Clinic studying dermal autoimmune disease which is the interest of her PhD, and Scientific Associate at the Peeling Department of the same hospital. She is also a faculty member of the “Advanced Techniques in Aesthetics” Academic program of “National & Kapodistrian University of Athens.

She is a KOL and trainer in advanced filler and peeling techniques participating in annual national & international meetings.

She runs her own Private Clinic in Athens, specializing in classic and cosmetic dermatology and lasers.