

Mohammad Jafferany (USA)

Dr. Mohammad Jafferany is Clinical Professor at Central Michigan University and Director Psychodermatology Clinic. He has combined training in Dermatology and Psychiatry. He is past president and current Executive Secretary of Association for Psychocutaneous Medicine of North America. He has more than 145 scholarly texts and publications to his credit on various psychodermatologic topics. He is the co-editor and author of books on Pediatric Psychodermatology, Geriatric Psychodermatology, Stress and skin disorders, Trichotillomania and authored two books on Essentials of Psychodermatology and Handbook of Psychodermatology. He has written numerous chapters on psychocutaneous disorders in many textbooks. He has conducted International Psychodermatology workshops in different parts of the world. He is a researcher, writer, lecturer and invited speaker in various national and international conferences on Psychodermatology around the world. Psychiatric aspects of hair disease and skin picking are his areas of interest and expertise.