

Elena Rossi

Based in Modena, Italy and working both in National Health system (2 hospitals) and in private practice.

In the hospital the main occupation is dermatologic surgery: repair of complex areas for melanoma and non-melanoma skin cancer. Personal experience is around 7000 surgeries: pre-operative evaluation, post-operative care and follow-up of complications. Excision of skin cancer and reconstruction with different techniques: primary excision, wedge excision, plasties, flaps and grafts (split thickness with dermatome and/or mesher or full thickness), dermal substitutes. Autonomy in the execution of the research, isolation and excision of sentinel lymph node in groin and axillary area for melanoma.

In private practice I mostly deal with consultation, surgery and cosmetic procedures.

Professor in non-ablative surgery in the master of cosmetic medicine at the University la Sapienza of Rome since 2019.

Expert in plasma exeresis : tutor in courses and master-class in many counties.

Since 2012 Tutor in EADV resident and specialist courses: basic and advanced surgery and cosmetic dermatology.

Since January 2020 member of the educational committee of the EADV.

Author of different international publications, international speaker and tutor in dermatologic surgery and cosmetic procedures.