

Jaimie Glick, M.D. is a board certified dermatologist in New York City, who treats patients of all ages—including pediatric and adolescents—with a specialty in acne, rosacea, and cosmetic dermatology. She is a highly regarded, physician who graduated Magna Cum Laude from the University of Pennsylvania. Dr. Glick earned her medical degree from the State University of New York (SUNY) Downstate College of Medicine where she was honored with the Benjamin Bender MD Award for Excellence in Clinical Dermatology. She completed her medical internship at Pennsylvania Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania and returned to SUNY Downstate for her residency in dermatology. In addition to conducting laser research in acne scarring, Dr. Glick has been published in many peer-reviewed journals, authored several book chapters and has given numerous lectures in dermatology. She believes strongly in educating her patients and working together to enhance skin health and beauty. Dr. Glick is an identical twin, lives in Manhattan, is an avid tennis player, a world traveler, and a general sports enthusiast.