

Brian Hibler, MD, is a board certified cosmetic and medical dermatologist in New York City. He completed an American Society for Dermatologic Surgery (ASDS) cosmetic dermatology fellowship at Massachusetts General Hospital/Harvard Medical School and performed research at the Wellman Center for Photomedicine. After graduating from the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health with Research Honors and as a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha honor medical society, he trained at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center and New York Presbyterian - Cornell. His interests are cosmetic and laser dermatologic surgery, minimally invasive cosmetic procedures, novel imaging techniques in dermatology, and skin aging.

He has received numerous national dermatology awards including the prestigious Dr. Richard E Fitzpatrick Clinical Research and Innovations Award from the American Society for Laser Medicine and Surgery, authored over 60 peer-reviewed publications and book chapters, and given numerous national and international lectures. He has prior research experience at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center and the National Cancer Institute. He is an active member of the American Academy of Dermatology, American Society for Laser Medicine and Surgery, and American Society for Dermatologic Surgery.