

SUSAN C. TAYLOR, MD

Susan C. Taylor is the Bernett L. Johnson Endowed Professor of Dermatology in the Perelman School of Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, PA. In addition, she is Emeritus Professor in the Department of Dermatology at the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai in New York, NY. She received her medical degree from Harvard Medical School in Boston and is a diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine and the American Board of Dermatology.

Dr. Taylor's clinical and research focus includes pigmentary disorders, acne, and alopecia. Her work has focused on advancing clinical knowledge and addressing gaps in central centrifugal cicatricial alopecia. She also serves as Principal Investigator for Phase II through Phase IV clinical research trials. Dr. Taylor has over 100 original publications as well as five books, including Taylor and Kelly's Dermatology for Skin of Color. She has given more than 80 lectures both nationally and internationally.

Before joining Penn, Dr. Taylor was in private practice at Society Hill Dermatology from 1989 until 2016. In 2020 she served as Past Vice President of the American Academy of Dermatology and was an AAD President-Elect Candidate in 2021. Dr. Taylor was the recipient of the AAD's 2022 Inaugural John Kenney Jr. Lifetime Achievement Award and Lectureship and the 2022 Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching from the Perelman School of Medicine.

Professor Taylor is a fellow of the American Academy of Dermatology, and a member of the American Dermatological Association, the American Society of Dermatologic Surgery, the Skin of Color Society, and the Women's Dermatologic Society. She is a fellow of the Dermatology, Aesthetics and Surgery International League, an honorary member of the British Academy of Dermatology, and a member of the International Society of Dermatology. She serves on the editorial boards of Archives in Dermatologic Research, Cutis, and Practical Dermatology and is a peer reviewer for several other journals, including Journal of the American Academy of Dermatology, British Journal of Dermatology, JAMA Dermatology, and Journal of Drugs in Dermatology.